DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 1-25 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-17 of U.S. Patent No. 6,712,744.

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims of the current application are a broader version of the patented claims. Obviousness double patenting is proper when it can be shown that the claims of the application are anticipated by the patented claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Art Unit: 3764

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Barker (U.S. 4,251,105). Barker discloses a handle frame having a generally U-shaped handle portion, the handle portion having a base member, a first and second arm, the plane of the handle portion being generally horizontal to the floor, the handle frame further including two telescopic members attached at an angle to the plane of the U-shaped handle portions, a generally U-shaped base frame positioned on the floor, having an elongated cross bar, the side members extending outwardly relative to each other, the base frame including a pair of elongated members extending generally upwardly and rearwardly from the cross bar, the pair of elongated members telescopically engaging the two telescopic members of the handle frame, and a locking device for maintaining the vertical dimension between the handle frame and the base frame thereby accommodating a wide variety of users of the apparatus. Barker fails to teach the side members extending radially outwardly moreso than the handlebars. Such a feature would be a matter of obvious choice to one of ordinary skill in the art in order to allow for more clearance for the legs of a user. Referring to claims 2-3, Barker fails to disclose the specific angles, however, the figures show an acute angle. The specific angles chosen are considered matters of obvious choice absent unexpected or undesired results. Referring to claim 4, Barker discloses a pair of wheels disposed on the front of the elongated cross bar apparatus. Referring to claim 5, as broadly claimed, Barker discloses feet. Referring to claim 6, Barker discloses cushioned material (2') on the gripping section. Referring to claim 7, Barker discloses a variable support surface (35) connected and extending between the two side members of the U-shaped base frame (note claim does not require direct connection). Referring to claim 8, Barker discloses embodiments in which the cushioned member extends at an acute angle relative to the frame of the handle frame. Referring to claims 9-25, the claims are substantially similar in scope to claims 1 -8 above. Note the above rejections. The feature of making a member removable is considered a matter of obvious choice within the knowledge of one of ordinary skill.
